Online registration continues through Thursday for Governor's Conference on Energy and the Environment Event Sept. 17-18 at Lexington Convention Center

Frankfort, Ky. (Sept. 11, 2013) – Kentucky Governor Steve Beshear will kick-off the 37th Governor's Conference on Energy and the Environment as keynote speaker Sept. 17, 2013, at the Lexington Convention Center. Environmental Protection Agency Deputy Administrator Bob Perciasepe also is scheduled to speak during the conference Online registration concludes at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, but participants can register at the door, beginning at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 17.

This year's conference will include general sessions that focus on impacts and challenges of federal climate change policies on Kentucky's economy and technology.

"We have invited experts from Kentucky and across the nation to discuss our options for compliance with the federal climate agenda, while at the same time, ensuring our citizens and industries have affordable, reliable access to electricity," said Energy and Environment Cabinet Secretary Len Peters.

To register, visit the Energy and Environment Cabinet's website at <http://eec.ky.gov/Pages/conference.aspx>.

The cost is $200 for the full conference; $125 for Day One and $100 for Day Two.

The conference includes an exhibit hall for vendors wishing to display energy and environment-related products and services. Vendors may also register and pay online at <http://eec.ky.gov/Pages/conference.aspx>. The cost of a booth is $300 and includes one full conference registration.
